

Australian immigration

Australia has been an extremely popular destination for holidays. Many foreign tourists visit Australia every year to experience and explore the beauty and culture of the country. The nationals of Australia are friendly and do not discriminate the foreign nationals when it comes to race or any other.

The Australian government encourages international skilled workers to settle in Australia. The skilled workers will be based on the point based system.

There are number of foreign skilled workers who go Australia to make their career every year. Australia is a land of opportunities for highly skilled workers and the country encourages the foreign skilled workers to take part in developing the country's economy. In order to enter Australia and work, every skilled worker must apply for Australia work permit, so that the worker is allowed to enter and work in the country.

Not only skilled workers but foreign students from various parts of the world go Australia for pursuing their higher studies and to make their career. Australian universities are open to all the international students with more than 1,200 institutions which provide 22,000 different courses and the Australian law promotes equal education. In order to study in Australia every student must have a valid student visa. Students can apply the student visa through online or by paper submission.

Opulentus can help their clients in guiding through the visa processing and even provide them with right kind of information the applicant requires.

Immigration to Australia

Foreign skilled workers mostly prefer Australia for its culture and people. The average rate of people who immigrate to Australia is more every year. The government of Australia has introduced various Australian immigration programs for the foreign skilled workers.

Pathways for Australian immigration

The Australian immigration system is based on point based system where the individuals need to meet the minimum score of certain aspects such as

1. Education
2. Work experience
3. Language proficiency and others

The pathways for foreign skilled employees for Australian immigration are

1. Australian skilled independent visa sub class 189
2. Australia skilled nominated visa sub class 190

Individuals can also migrate to Australia temporarily under

1. Student visa
2. Temporary graduate visa
3. Work permit and others

Individuals who undergo these programs can settle in Australia permanently. The applicant must submit the expression of interest (EOI) to the Australian visa application.

Opulentus Visa Company is here to help the skilled workers for obtaining their required visa. Opulentus takes care of the entire visa processing.